Gremlin Trouble

Book #5: Fun with Electricity, part 2 of 3

Fun with Electricity continues as the Gremlins work against time to fix the city's sabotaged power system before the population is vaporized. One glitch is that Gremlin rules require that at least one wise and worthy human must be found who well deserves to be saved from the impending disaster. Unfortunately, Gremlin Princess Cypher, who is assigned the task of finding and testing the human candidate selects the spectacularly ambitious and amoral High Commissioner for Security, Del Delage, who learns too late why you should NEVER let Gremlins handle rocket propelled anti-tank weaponry in the bathroom.
